

Proposed changes to Kinn Road Compound

Following further consultation since submitting our planning application in June 2021 we have made changes to our proposals for the Kinn Road Compound. We will soon be submitting an update to our planning application to reflect these changes and our updated proposals.

What are the changes

We are no longer proposing to use Kinn Road to access our site as we will be creating a new access point directly to our compound from the A684. Though we will still need to cross Kinn Road this new access would significantly reduce the interface with other users of this local road.

These changes are illustrated in the map below;

Next steps

The above will be detailed in Supplementary Environmental Information that we will submit to South Lakeland District Council as part of the planning application process. As the planning authority, South Lakeland District Council, will make this information available online, seek input from consultees and be open to receive comment on the changes.
